

The SPL Index Connection

Indexing SPL Files

Downloading the product and indexing SPL files from DailyMed into a healthcare information system's database permits one to automatically create data relationships using like data elements. Those data relationships allow you to query SPL data for products which, for example, share the same pharm class.

*At the time of publication, substance indexing SPL files have been generated but not posted on DailyMed.

- Indexing SPL files are generated by FDA. Product SPL files are generated by product manufacturers/distributors.